

Gods Little Joke

is coming to Hexham!!

Dear musicians, comedians, poets, mime acts, sword swallows, jugglers, singers and anyone with any talent whatsoever. Gods' Little Joke is indeed on its way to The Queens Hall, (Exchange Café) Hexham, and performers of all kinds are being sought to come and do their thing in front of a captive, listening and paying audience.

If you had been wondering where you can put your talent to the test, and weren't sure, well now you know.

So what exactly is Gods' Little Joke?

GLJ is a new variety night open to new artists looking for somewhere to perform. GLJ will be put on monthly and will comprise of four floor acts and then a main act, which will be paid for their services. Each floor act will run for 15 minutes and the main act will perform for 45 minutes to an hour.

GLJ goes way back and started in Clapham, South London where many performers started up. Acts such as Billy Bragg, Julian Clary, John Shuttleworth and Jo Brand all performed at GLJ and went on to massive things. GLJ then went over to Sydney, Australia in the mid nineties and ran successfully in Sydneys' Occidental Hotel right in the heart of the city.

Once again, GLJ invites ALL performers.
If you want to book yourself a spot, just email me at:
godslittlejoke@ymail.com.

Darren Johnson

